

Bentonville Arkansas the Mountain Biking Capitol of the World?

Here, we compare the self-proclaimed capitol against a sister city in Colorado. While Bentonville lacks the density of trails seen in Golden (particularly at the upper end of length and total descent), they are rated more favorably. It's safe to say that it's the "Mountain Biking Capitol of the Midwest", but the world is probably a bit of a stretch. Data courtesy of MTB Project.

